

questions
in.digestion

an evolving collection of prompts to clarify my thoughts and divert my parades of cowardice time enough in a single day to experience all of hell, said Wittgenstein—also that not deceiving yourself is very hard work

Jana Branch

September 2017

what am I
making?

what does it
make
me?

what can I not stop
thinking about?

what do I refuse
to think?

what is certain?

what
certainty
needs to be
unsettled?

what context
am I missing?

can I say
the question
out loud?

or can the question
only be shown?

...nabla horem

...nabla horem

...goramen

...bloiko rüssula hujo

...hollala

...bung

...ung

...raka ü üü

...nampa wulla wussa olobo

...hej tatta görem

...schiee z n b a d a

what's at stake?

whose

gaze

do I

need?

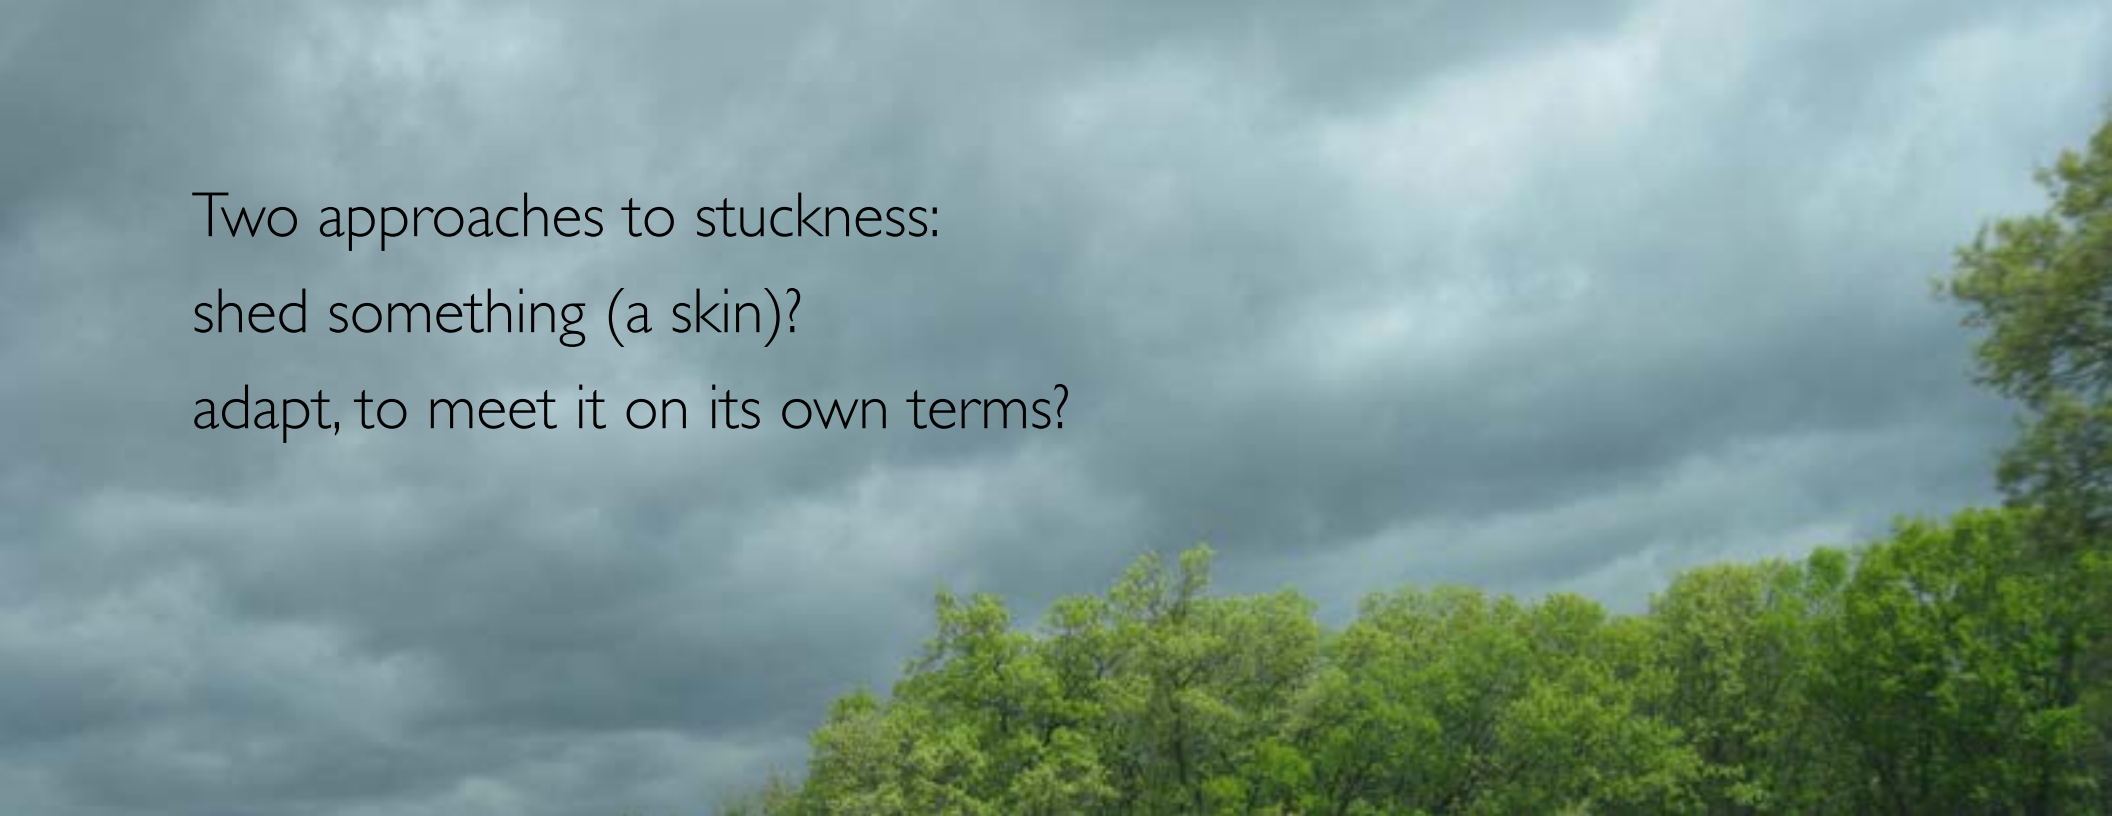

whose

gaze

is

fatal

The background of the slide features a dramatic sky filled with dark, heavy, grey-blue clouds. At the bottom of the frame, there is a dense line of bright green trees, likely deciduous, which are partially obscured by the lower edge of the image. The overall mood is somber and contemplative.

Two approaches to stuckness:
shed something (a skin)?
adapt, to meet it on its own terms?

A photograph showing a row of wooden chairs, possibly in a lecture hall or classroom. The chairs are made of light-colored wood and are arranged in a line, receding into the distance. In the foreground, a large, dark wooden pillar or post is visible, partially obscuring the view of the chairs. The lighting is soft, and the background is a plain, light-colored wall.

am I
calculating
just enough?
too much?

what
unforbidden
pleasure
am I
forgoing?

are the pleasures
of judging
getting
in the way?

are the questions
still alive
in the accounting?

what's beyond

either/or?

beyond both/and?

and

and

and

and

what

who

haunts me?

what's in the seam?

what's in
the static?
in the silence?

go

walk

go

make

something

Please ensure that your bathroom door is closed when bathing. Failure to do this may result in the fire alarm being activated and the evacuation of the hotel.

intestinal.space